Sterling exchange market continued weak, and a further decline in quotations was made. The offerings of bills were fair, while the demand from remitters was light. The closing, however, showed a slight improvement from the lowest, owing to some inquiry for to-morrow's steamer. Continental exchange was steady. Posted rates were quoted at $4.85\% for long bills and $4.88\% for short. Actual rates: Long bills, $4.8485 \mathref{S$4.8495}: sight drafts, $4.87\% \mathref{@$6.854}.8495: sight drafts, $4.87\% \mathref{@$6.854}.849 Sterling exchange market continued weak, Paris advices quote 3 per cents 96 francs 85 centimes. The private rate of discount is 2 11-16 per cent. Exchange on London 25 francs 14½ centimes. Berlin advices quote exchange on London 20 marks 40 pfgs. The private rate of discount is 3M per cent.

FINANCIAL AND COMME RCIAL.

Recent favorable developments, notably the successful subscription to the new stock issue of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and better crop conditions both as to the grain and ootton, with a relanse in the high tension that has governed the commercial markets, were reflected by to-day's stock market in a further advance in prices. Speculative Wall Street, however, is prone to become hysterical and to jump to rapid conclusions when prices which have been moving downward for any ongth of time reverse their action and move the other way for a few points. The assertion made at such times by the traders n the market would almost seem to reflect an opinion that, by some remarkable operation of nature or finance, all the clouds that had been threatening had been cleared away in a few hours' time and that a "great bull market" had started, in the course of which prices were to regain almost at once all their lost ground. Such, of course, is not the case. It is true that the prices of the best class of stocks in the great decline extending over aine months had reached market figures that were attracting investment buying. With the announcement of the successful subscription to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's new stock issue, indicating that there is still plenty of money in this country available for investment purposes, an upward reaction in the stock market to very natural. It had become evident that urgent liquidation had ceased and that stocks were being taken at prices, and, with this fact developed, the strong bear party that had been working in the market also curtailed its operations, and last week's period of dulness, which culminated on Friday with the smallest day's business of the year, was the equence.

The advance that has followed has been largely professional, though no doubt it has been reënforced to some extent by limited foreign and domestic buying of stocks, partly representing July reinvestment demand. A belated short interest in the market of some proportions has run to cover, and, in spots in the market pools have done some bidding up of the prices of the shares in which they are concerned. A "public," such as a sustained bull movement requires, is not drawn into the stock market, however, in a day, and an attempt to attract it into the market at this time would be very unfortunate and pretty certain to rebound upon the interests making the attempt. The financial clouds, while less threatening have by no means rolled by, and were Wall Street at this time, with the money demand on this centre for crop-moving purposes still to come and with investment buying only beginning to absorb the surplus stock of securities, to attempt to enter into another one of what has been justly termed its speculative debauches it would be a very foolish act. It is true that the release of a large amount of money, through the pay ing off of the Pennsylvania Railroad loans in this city, will provide ample funds for ordinary demands, but the fresh borrowing demands incidental to an extended bullish stock market movement would quickly lap up this supply of funds. With, however, the demand from speculative quarters kept within bounds, and the banking element, with the experience of the past nine months in fresh remembrance, can be safely depended on to keep it within bounds comparatively easy money rates may be ooked for after the turn of the month.

In the closing hour of business to-day the rate for money on call went up sharply, touching 10 per cent. and reflecting shifting of loans in connection with the financing of the July 1 interest and dividend payments. Coincidently with the advance in money the prices of stocks fell away from their best figures of the day, but the closings ided strength been going on recently appeared to have

After the close of business official announcement was made that in consequence of the continued ill health of the president of the corporation an assistant has been appointed to perform the active duties of the presidency. While this action does not represent a formal resignation on the part of the president, it will undoubtedly be regarded as tantamount to that in Wall Street, and it must be confessed that speculative sentiment in the financial district under present circumstances will regard the fact as being advantageous to the market price of the Steel Corporation's securities. In connection with their strength in to-day's market it may also be said that there are indications that the deadlock in the pig iron situation is breaking and that consumers are likely shortly to enter the market with orders in volume Incidents of the day were the publication of the May statement of earnings of the Reading Company, whose showing was per cent. for six months and 5@51/2 per cent. forecast in this column yesterday, and the in hand by a receiver. This latter development should remove from the situation. for the present at least, a factor which has exerted some disturbance. London on balance sent a further moderate volume of buying orders for execution in this stock market, and these orders were reflected in another decline in foreign exchange rates.

While the volume of business fell off somewhat in the active issues, interest was spread over a larger number of shares than those dealt in yesterday. In the afternoon slight reactions took place from the best prices, due to realizing, although the general tone of the market continued decidedly firm. Northern Securities opened strong under good buying and gained ½ per cent, which was held until very near the close, when a reactionary tendency developed on realizing, which resulted in a loss of 12 form the highest. Chicago Pneumatic Tool scored a further gain of 2 per cent, on comparatively light trading.
